POSITIVE PROOF

Should Convince the Greatest Skeptic in Maysville

Because it's the evidence of a Maysville citizen.
Testimony easily investigated.
The strongest endorsement of merit.
The best proof. Read it:
Mrs. Della Luneford, 328 E. Front St., Maysville, says: "I attribute kidney trouble to a strain. I had sharp, shooting pains through my kidneys and a dragging-down feeling through my hips. I had dull headaches and dizzy spells and often if I had not caught hold of something for support, I would have fallen. I was in that condition for several years, up one week and in bed the next. I finally began to notice symptoms of dropsy. My feet began to swell and my hands were at times the same way. Finally, I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me."

OVER THREE YEARS LATER Mrs. Luneford said: "Doan's Kidney Pills completely and permanently cured me and I am glad to confirm all I said in their praise before."
Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Luneford has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

SHORTAGE OF PAPER DISCUSSED

New York, April 27.—The shortage of white print paper and means for meeting the unprecedented situation were discussed yesterday by newspaper publishers from all parts of the United States in attendance at the annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association.

Because the demand for print paper is expected to be greatest, as usual, during the next thirty days, the publishers were urged to employ every method of saving, even to the cutting down of margins.

Reasons for the shortage of white paper were outlined in a report by Lincoln B. Palmer, manager of the association. He pointed out that the demand for print paper began to increase in the spring with the increase of circulation and the greater demand for advertising space.

In addition, he said, the European war has diverted from England and Scandinavia many South American publishers, who are now seeking paper in the American market.

DYESTUFFS AND COTTON INDUSTRY SITUATION RELIEVED

Boston, April 27.—The problem of reconstructing the dyestuffs industry in this country to insure regular supply for the textile trade is near solution, according to speakers at the opening session of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers.

Edward S. Chapin of this city, commissioned by the association to study the conditions caused by the war, reported his belief that the situation could be worked out domestically to the satisfaction of all industrial demands.

"The great needs of the past year," he stated, "have been responsible for bringing to light many studies on the use of mordants and dyestuffs that would otherwise probably never have been published or practically tried out."

"It has been proven conclusively that the natural dyestuffs can and should be used for many purposes not hitherto dreamed of, with profit to the industry. Dyeing methods have been compiled and elaborated which give, on the various forms of cotton in modern dyeing machinery with the use of natural dyestuffs, a pleasing and practicable diversification of shades."

"The erection of a comprehensive coal tars industry, insuring the country forever against another such calamitous happening as the present, is a thoroughly sound and desirable proposition," Mr. Chapin adds.

Herman A. Metz of New York, discussing the German government's announced release of 15,000 tons of dyestuffs for this country, said there were still difficulties in the form of a British permit for transportation, and the obtaining of American ships to carry the cargo in the way of early delivery.

MAPLE SUGAR INDUSTRY.

Reports from almost every maple growing section of the state of Ohio indicate that the industry is declining and that the time will come when Ohioans will either have to go without their syrup or buy it in the markets of Michigan, Vermont and New York. F. B. Mix of Alliance, O., owner of a maple grove of over 1,500 trees, says the industry is passing.

HEADLINE ATTRACTIONS

On This Year's Chautauqua Program—Great Soprano, Dramatic Company, Gyroscope Man, Band and Popular Lecturers Included.

Chautauqua prospects were never brighter than for the coming season, and with the strong program outlined below there is every reason to anticipate a great week:

Chautauqua Music.

Music for the week is to be more elaborate than in previous years. On the opening day the Music Makers' quartet is to give an afternoon concert and an evening prelude, one of the special instrumental features being selections on the marimbaphone.

The Maurer Sisters Orchestra, now on a tour of Panama, is scheduled for the second day. Their programs include a fine variety of music on cornet, violin, 'cello, piano and flute, together with impersonations, whistling and other unique features.

Signor Giuseppe Bartolotta, an Italian tenor, is to appear in a recital on the third afternoon, in connection with a forty-five minute talk by the morning lecturer. Bartolotta has sung in concert with such artists as Melba, Kubelik, Patti and Paderewski, and has a wonderful combination of dramatic power and intensity.

Music for Chautauqua's fourth day is to be of the unique Hawaiian variety with the University Boys as performers. Their afternoon prelude will introduce a few Hawaiian numbers, and in the evening their entire program is to be given on ukulele, Taro Patch fiddle, Hawaiian steel guitar and mele.

Band Day Announced.

Francesco Pallaria, who was born and educated in the musical atmosphere of Naples, brings his New York band for two concerts on Chautauqua's fifth day. Last summer this organization toured the largest Chautauqua in America and "made good." The programs are to include some special descriptive numbers. One of the features will be a brass sextet.

The American Girls, six in number, have a patriotic program which they are to give on the sixth day. One of their most interesting diversions is the representation of the six periods of American girlhood. In another scene they offer a beautiful description of the American flag and its history. Their programs are both vocal and instrumental, and introduce saxophones, cornet, violin and 'cello.

Operatic Star a Favorite.

Naturally, chief interest will center in the closing night's concert by Miss Alice Nielsen. As a member of the Metropolitan and Boston Opera Companies she has been referred to recently as "The American Patti." Being a native of Nashville, Tenn., Miss Nielsen has always been a favorite American daughter, and her success—first in light opera and later in grand opera—has been watched with unusual interest. She is a lyric soprano of pleasing personality, and when she comes to this city in her private car she will make practical her amiability by allowing patrons to choose as an encore many of the old, familiar favorites which are always popular, especially when well given. In her program Miss Nielsen is to be assisted by a competent violinist and a pianist.

This season's lecturers are Dr. William A. Colledge, a world traveler and educator of note; Frank Dixon, in a vital talk on "Taking Stock of a Town"; Dr. James S. Kirtley, author and lecturer on boys and their problems, and Thomas Brooks Fletcher, dramatic orator.

Something Spectacular.

Montreville Wood's demonstration of the gyroscope, the monorail car and the ultra-violet ray, will be remembered for months after the chautauqua is over. He is to be assisted by his daughter, Miss Allene Wood, in this popular scientific entertainment. Stored light, aeroplane operation, monorail possibilities and gyroscope wrestling will be among the features introduced by Mr. Wood. Men from the audience will be given an opportunity to "throw" the gyroscope.

"The Servant in the House," booked for the third night, is to be given by a company under the direction of William Owen. For more than twenty years he has played leading roles in the world's greatest plays, and the supporting company is thoroughly accomplished in the histrionic art.

Everett Kemp's interpretation of "That Printer of Udell's" is announced for the second day. He has read this remarkably interesting story hundreds of times for lyceum and chautauqua audiences, and always with the same result—entire satisfaction.

Survivor of the North.

Frederick W. Maurer, who went north with the Stefansson expedition and was rescued from the famous Wrangel Island less than two years ago, is to tell his thrilling story of "A Fight for Life in the Arctic." This lecture is to be illustrated with photographs secured by Mr. Maurer while in the polar regions.

A series of morning lectures is to be given during the week by a speaker yet to be announced.

The children's department is to include activities of the Junior Redpath Club, with folk drills, games and stories. The climax of junior work will be a Mother Goose Festival on the sixth night, following a short program by the American Girls and preceding the illustrated lecture on the Arctic.

YOUTH IN OLD AGE

How To Live To Be One Hundred Years Old.

With proper attention to diet, prevention of colds, exercise, plenty of sleep, proper care of the skin and the use of a strengthening tonic like Vinol, years may be added to one's life.

A Civil War Veteran, Mr. W. H. Bowers of Steubenville, Ohio, says: "I am 77 years of age. I suffered from general weakness, nervous breakdown and dizziness. An old doctor recommended Vinol. It built me up so that I was able to go to work as strong and well as ever."

The reason Vinol is so beneficial to old people is because it contains the very elements needed to replace declining strength with renewed vigor, viz.—the medicinal elements of fresh cod livers, without oil, peptonate of iron, beef peptone and a mild tonic wine.

If Vinol fails to build up the feeble weakened system of old people, we will return the amount of money paid for it.

RELIEF SCHEME PUT UP TO PRESIDENT WILSON.

Washington, April 27.—President Wilson was asked yesterday to issue a nation wide appeal through all churches and religious denominations for contributions to relieve suffering in Europe and Asia growing out of the war. A committee of clergy from the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, sponsor of the plan, presented a formal memorial to the President. It proposed that a campaign to raise funds be held throughout the United States during the week preceding Memorial Day.

The President told the committee that he was deeply interested and would give the plan immediate and serious thought.

The proposal is non-sectarian in scope, although suggested by the organization of Protestant denominations representing 125,000 churches with a membership of 18,000,000, and was explained to the President as not involving any peace movement. The President's callers said American churches were hopeful, also, of exercising great help in reconciliation and reconstruction in Europe when the proper time comes.

The President was advised that the object of the relief movement was a substantial demonstration of America's interests in alleviating suffering due to the war. It was stated that such resentment as exists against the United States in Europe is largely due to the widespread and general belief that the United States is commercializing the war and interested principally in its financial benefit. This opinion, he was told, has been largely offset by relief work already done.

When a man breathes he uses his muscular strength to draw in the air, and it is afterward forced out automatically. With insects, as a German investigator has just discovered, this process is just reversed.

Well Built Is Built To Win—but in building brain and body, often the daily diet lacks certain essential mineral elements.

These necessary factors are abundantly supplied by the field grains, but are lacking in many foods.

"There's a Reason"

AGAINST MODEL ROADS

Flemingsburg Times-Democrat Comes Out In Editorial Protest Against Bond Issue.

The current issue of the Flemingsburg Times-Democrat contains the following editorial in reference to the proposed $150,000 bond issue for good roads:

Judging by expressions from representative farmers from different sections of the county on Monday we are fully convinced that the thinking people of the county fully agree with us in regard to the folly of reconstructing our pikes as so-called model roads under state supervision. They see very plainly the unwisdom of tearing up the roadbed and narrowing the road to twelve feet. And if a bond issue should be submitted to a vote on the basis of using the proceeds to modelize the roads under state supervision then the bonds would be defeated by a decisive majority. The only plan which seems feasible to us is to have a constitutional amendment adopted permitting a raise of the rate for road purposes from 25 cents to 50 cents on the $100. We are aware that raising the rate is not a popular measure as a rule, but what else can we do to save our pikes? A bond issue is simply postponing the evil day. That bond issue will have to be met, principal and interest, by money drawn from the people by taxation. There is no other source from which it can be drawn. And when we are paying it off we will be wearing out our roads and making little or no repairs. The result will be that we shall have worse roads at the end of the bond period than we have now.

Any system which seeks to hand down to posterity a burden of debt without leaving some assets to show for the expenditure of the money represented by that debt is a false and unwise one.

If we must vote bonds let us first get ourselves in shape to do so by providing for a levy sufficient to meet the annual interest and provide a sinking fund to relieve the bonds as they become due without taking a cent from the 25 cents fund provided for the maintenance of the roads.

No man, no body, no corporate nor politics can hope to get something for nothing by issuing bonds. Pay day will come and it generally comes before we are prepared for it. Let us look into this matter squarely in the face and meet it on business principles.
